FOOD EXPERTS OF EIGHTEEN NATIONS MEET

Planners Hear Addresses
By President Truman,
Herbert Hoover

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, May 20.—President Truman informed the international food conference today that the remaining weeks before the 1946 grain harvest will be especially critical in famine areas.

He said the United States and other countries in a position to help
"must continue and tighten their efforts."

Mr. Truman's statement was made in a welcoming talk read by Secretary of Agriculture Anderson
before an opening meeting of the Food and Agriculture organization of the United Nations, called to map a broad fight on long-term
famine conditions.

"In meeting at this critical period," the President's message said,
"you have heavy responsibilities
and great opportunities."

Herbert Hoover, declaring there is need for drastic reorganization of the world fight on famine, urged today the creation of a broad international food administration by Sept. 1 to spur the food output
and guide distribution of supplies.

Hoover made this recommendation at the opening session of a special conference on world food needs under the auspices of the United Nations Food and Agriculture organization.

International In Scope

The former President said such an organization should take over the food and agriculture activities
of the United Nations relief and rehabilitation administration and the British-Canadian-American combined food board and all other international agencies connected with food and agriculture reconstruction.

Hoover said the food administration, which he suggested be named the United Nations food administration, be directed by a single food administrator and a small advisory committee.

He said that it should be the administration's purpose to return to normal commerce the food, fertilizer and farm supply business of the world "with all speed possible."
"Moreover," he said, "the world must quit charity as a basis of widespread food distribution. I cannot too strongly emphasize that charitable distribution is hugely
wasteful and inefficient."

May Fall Short of Goal

An estimate that the world may fall a third short on food again next year challenged experts of 18 nations and five international organizations as they met today to combat famine.

The estimate came from the United Nations food and agriculture organization—30,500,000 metric tons
of wheat needed in shortage areas, 18,000,000 to 20,000,000 tons available from surplus countries.

And from the director of FAO,
Sir John Orr, the delegates heard
a warning that:
"The position seems to be that following the 1946 harvest the world will be as badly off for food as it was at the time of the 1945 harvest because this time we will have no great reserves of food carried over from the previous year to fall back on."

Bremen Submarine Pens Being Bombed In Tests

(By Associated Press)
WIESBADEN, Germany, May 20.—American and Britain's heaviest bombers are striking at the $50,000,000 submarine pens
near Bremen with "earth shock"
bombs in the largest experiment
at air bombardment launched in Europe since the end of the war.
It was officially disclosed today.
Four engine B-29s, which never flew in combat over Germany, together with B-17 Flying Fortresses and British Lancasters, are shuttling between Bremen and the RAF central bomber establishment at Mar-
ham, England, for the continuing tests.

A statement by U. S. air forces
headquarters here said the purpose was to determine "the full possibilities of destroying massive targets by earth-shock." British-developed bombs ranging up to 22,000 pounds and American 4,500-pound "rocket-assisted"
armor-piercing bombs are used.

DEMANDS PASSAGE OF LABOR MEASURE

(By United Press)
WASHINGTON, May 20.—Senator George (D., Ga.) demanded today that the senate stay in continuous day and night session until
it passes a labor disputes act.

Critical of what he termed President Truman's failure to recommend "balanced" legislation, the Georgia lawmaker said he fears the threat of a general strike unless current controversies involving coal
and the railroads are settled.

With the senate beginning its second week of debate on pending
proposals, George told a reporter:

"The President ought to ask the senate to stay in continuous day
and night sessions until we get some action in this crisis. It's not too late, if we have sympathetic executive support, for congress to do something. But if it is to be effective we must have that kind of presidential assistance."

George contended that Mr. Truman has failed to say what legislation he is willing to support in the present strike crisis, beyond making a recommendation for establishment of fact-finding boards
such as have been created in some instances by executive order.

Marshall Criticizes 2 Chinese Factions

(By Associated Press)
NANKING, May 20.—General
Marshall, American peace envoy to China, sharply criticized both Communist and government factions today for their part in the Chinese civil war.

Saying he was deeply concerned
over "the critical situation in north China" and was endeavoring "by every means" to prevent the spread of general fighting from Manchuria southward, Marshall censured both factions for their propaganda campaigns, which he said "naturally inflame feelings and increase the possibility of some hot-headed precipitating a general conflagration."

"The reckless propaganda of hate and suspicion," Marshall said, "seriously aggravates the present situation and can lead to results which will be disastrous to the people of China."

The American general made his extraordinary charges in a press release shortly after the capture of Szepingkai by government forces
had been announced at army headquarters in Mukden and confirmed
by government sources at Peiping.

tanks of 11,000-gallon capacity. It carries a five-man crew, with accommodations for relief crews necessary on long flights. If used as transport instead of for freight, the Globemaster can accommodate 125 troops or 115 casualty litters.

2 Girls Run Into Car, Are Injured

Betty Jane and Judith Ann Curry, aged 8 and 5, respectively, suffered minor injuries at 12:10 p. m. Saturday when they ran into the side of a car driven by Gerald Lippitt, R.
D. 5, Salem, in front of the public library on E. State st.

Police said witnesses told them
the two girls were crossing from the library to the north side of the street where their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Blair Curry, of E. Third st., were waiting for them in a car.

Lippitt said the children ran into the side of the car and witnesses confirmed his statements.
Judith Ann was taken to Salem
City hospital with a fractured leg,
and her sister suffered bruises about
the face.

A car driven by Regis Stiffler of R. D. 2, Salem, collided with another car, operated by Hazel Betts, 448 Franklin st., and then struck a parked car, owned by Herbert Dow of 225 Vine ave., at 6:30 p. m. Saturday on E. State st., near Vine ave., police said.

Mrs. Geraldine Turner of Canton told police an unidentified car struck hers as she was making a right turn into E. Pershing st. from
S. Union ave. at 2 p. m. yesterday.
No one was injured.

Jack Hickling, 413 Washington
ave., reported to police that his car
and another, driven by J. E. Reeder of Canton, were involved in a collision on downtown E. State st. at 5 p. m. Friday.

GROMYKO TO QUIT COUNCIL SESSION

NEW YORK, May 20.—Soviet delegate Andrei A. Gromyko indicated today that he would boycott
Wednesday's session of the United Nations Security council which has been called to take up again the controversial Iranian question.
Gromyko, who already has walked out on one meeting of council and boycotted another, said in response to a question as to whether he would attend:
"I made myself clear on that
some time ago."

He apparently was referring to his statement of April 23 that he would not take part in any further council discussions of the Iranian question.

This development came as the council approached another deadline in the Iranian case, still without any assurances from either Russia or Iran that all Soviet troops had been withdrawn from Iranian soil.

COLLECT 104 LOADS IN SPRING CLEANUP

Oscar L. McCammon, foreman of the city service department, announced that the annual spring
cleanup, which began last Monday,
was completed at noon today.

After all the streets had been canvassed and collections of tin cans and other debris made, the city trucks had totaled 104 loads, McCammon said.

The cleanup netted more loads
this year than in four or five previous years, he said.

urday in the Memorial building
when approximately 100 young people were present.

Barbara Guy of Uhrichsville,
chairman and district representative on the State Youth committee,
was in charge of the program.

The morning portion of the all-
day conference was taken up by registration, group singing, a "get acquainted" session and a discussion on "Human Relations" led by Carl R. Hutchinson of Columbus.

Miss Guy led the group singing
while Steve Ruck of Geneva and Marion McConell of New Middleton handled registration. McConell also was in charge of the "get acquainted" move.

Following lunch, classes were held
under the direction of Hutchinson,
N. A. Coonrad of Mount Vernon,
district field supervisor, Mary Louise Krebs of Burton and John Parker, Jr. of Bloomfield and William Moore of R. D. 5, Flushing.

A dinner and party concluded the meeting.

Boy's Valiant Fight Against Cancer Ends

PARKERTOWN, N. J., May 20.—
Eight-year-old Leonard (Buster)
Roos died yesterday of the cancer
that had cost him his leg, eaten
into his lungs but could not reach his boyish smile.

The end that physicians had predicted would come last Christmas was merciful. Buster died in his sleep. He had wasted away of the malignant disease, but his last thought had been of the future
and his plans were childhood
plans.

His grandmother, Mrs. Florence
Albright who had come from Gloucester to help Buster's mother, Mrs. Pearl Roos, in caring for the youngster, found him dead in bed.
The night before he had told her
he wanted to go with her soon on a visit to Gloucester.

Buster's plight had done much
to center attention on the fight against cancer in children.

During the American Cancer society annual campaign for funds
Buster served as honorary treasurer.
A radio program "Truth and Consequences" presented him with $1,000 for his part in raising much more than a $10,000 contributions goal.

OPA Grants Price Boost On Electric Appliances

WASHINGTON, May 20.—Retail price ceiling boosts of four to five per cent for toasters, heating pads,
space heaters and other small electrical appliances were authorized today by OPA.

They result from a hike in manufacturers' ceilings, effective immediately. Higher retail prices may not be charged, OPA said, until dealers
have been notified by suppliers.

The increase is being granted to compensate for higher wage and materials costs.

Public to Pay New Increase In Auto Prices, Due Shortly

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 20.—Prices
of new cars, already boosted because of higher wages, are going up
again—this time an average of four
to five per cent to offset costlier
steel and parts.

Disclosing this today, a high OPA
official told a reporter privately
that the hike probably will go into effect within 10 days.

He said OPA hopes this will be
the last of the auto price increases
required under the administration's
liberalized wage-price policy.

Under it, retail prices for most
cars were boosted from $1 to $60
in March and April to compensate
for wage increases granted in the industry.

Figuring an average of five per cent, the new increase will add $60
to the price of a $1,200 car. However, the hike for autos in this
price range may be less than the average.

In any case, the entire increase

will be passed on to the public.
OPA has said dealers' profit margins will not be trimmed any more.

One of the principal factors behind the new increase is the average boost of $5 a ton for steel which the government allowed last February when the industry increased wages 18½ cents hourly to settle the steel strike. The auto industry also is paying higher prices for other materials.

The other main reason for the imminent auto price increase is the higher cost of parts to car makers.

Price ceilings on most new auto parts were removed several months ago. OPA has stated it expected some increase and that it would have had to authorize higher prices
if ceilings had been maintained.

These two increases—for wages
on the one hand for parts and materials on the other—have blasted OPA's 1945 predictions that new cars would cost the public no more than in 1942.

Jayteen Project Brings State Award for Salem Jr. C. of C.

Organization and operation of the Salem Jayteen and the "Youth week" project here last year won the Salem chapter of the Junior Chamber of Commerce the award
for the "most outstanding project of the year" at the Chamber's annual state convention in Toledo
over the weekend.

The Salem group won the award

in a field of 189 cities, all with population of 30,000 or less.

Salem was also given a trophy
for the top rating in the same city
group for youth welfare work,
which included the Jayteen and Youth week projects and the club's annual Christmas party for the children at the Fairmount Children's home in Alliance.

Booth Tarkington, Popular Novelist, Dies At Age of 70

INDIANAPOLIS, May 20.—Booth
Tarkington, whose novels found a
place on the world's bookshelves,
died last night in the Indianapolis
home in which he had done much
of his writing. He was 70.

His death took another of the
small group of writers and artists
who brought Indiana its golden
age of letters shortly after the turn
of the century. One of his boyhood
friends was the Hoosier poet, James Whitcomb Riley.

With those of Riley, Meredith
Nicholson, George Ade and George
Barr, McCutcheon, his writings
brought Indiana a prominent place
in the world's literary circles. Of the group, only Meredith Nichol-
son now is alive.

At Tarkington's bedside when he
died were the author's wife, Sus-
annah, his secretary, Betty Trotter,
and Mr. and Mrs. John T. Jameson, Jameson is a nephew.

Published First Novel When 39
Tarkington's literary output was prodigious, and the quality was equal to the quantity. Two of his novels brought him the Pulitzer
prize for literature—"The Magnificent Ambersons" in 1919 and "Alice
Adams" three years later.

His first successful novel, "Published when he was 30, was "The Gentleman From Indiana," and Tarkington himself often was referred to by this title in later years.

In 1930 he became blind, after
being troubled with failing sight
for years. An operation partially restored his vision, but his stories
were dictated thereafter.

Tarkington was best known for his novels, but he ventured into the field of play writing on occasions. His "Monsieur Beaucaire" was staged in 1901 and he followed it
with a string of hits.

Funeral services will be conducted privately Tuesday at Tarkington's Indianapolis home.

RAISE $1.045 HERE FOR CANCER DRIVE

Additional contributions to Salem's cancer fund drive since the campaign ended last Monday have sent the city's total to $1,045.

The drive, conducted by the Junior Chamber of Commerce, has been acclaimed a great success
since Columbiana county's goal this year is only $1,000.

Sixty per cent of the amount collected in Salem and other communities in the county will be retained in the county while the balance will be sent to the national cancer organization.

Public to Pay New Increase In Auto Prices, Due Shortly

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, May 20.—Prices
of new cars, already boosted be-
cause of higher wages, are going up
again—this time an average of four
to five per cent to offset costlier
steel and parts.

Disclosing this today, a high OPA
official told a reporter privately
that the hike probably will go into
effect within 10 days.

He said OPA hopes this will be
the last of the auto price increases
required under the administration's
liberalized wage-price policy.

Under it, retail prices for most
cars were boosted from $1 to $60
in March and April to compensate
for wage increases granted in the
industry.

Figuring an average of five per cent, the new increase will add $60
to the price of a $1,200 car. However, the hike for autos in this
average.

Booth Tarkington, Popular Novelist, Dies At Age of 70

INDIANAPOLIS, May 20.—Booth
Tarkington, whose novel found a
place on the world's bookshelves,
died last night in the Indianapolis
home in which he had done much
of his writing. He was 70.

His death took another of the
small group of writers and artists
who brought Indiana its golden
age of letters shortly after the turn
of the century. One of his boyhood
friends was the Hoosier poet, James Whitcomb Riley.

With those of Ade, Meredith
Nicholson, George Ade, and George
Barr—McCutcheon, his writings
brought Indiana a prominent place
in the world's literary circles. Of
the group, only Meredith Nichol-
son now is alive.

At Tarkington's bedside when he
died were the author's wife, Sus-
annah, his secretary, Betty Trotter,
and Mr. and Mrs. John T. Jam-
eson, Jameson is a nephew.

Published First Novel When 30
Tarkington's literary output was
prodigious, and the quality was
equal to the quantity. Two of his
novels brought him the Pulitzer
prize for literature—"The Magnificent Ambersons" in 1919 and "Alice
Adams" three years later.

His first successful novel, published when he was 30, was "The Gentleman From Indiana," and Tarkington himself often was referred to by this title in later years.

In 1939 he became blind, after
being troubled with failing sight
for years. An operation partially
restored his vision, but his stories
were dictated thereafter.

Tarkington was best known for his novels. He ventured into the field of play writing on occasions. His "Monsieur Beaucaire" was
staged in 1901 and he followed it
with a string of hits.

Pittsburgh Racket Clean-Up Ordered

PITTSBURGH, May 20.—The
gangland-like slaying of two men
in the East Liberty section Friday
brought orders from Mayor David L. Lawrence today for police to "clean up" rackets in Pittsburgh.

Lawrence said he directed Police Supt. Harvey Scott to get to the "bottom of whatever the cause," of the slayings.

The victims were Frank Evans,
29, of Pittsburgh, and Cleveland,
and Fred Garrow, 49, of Uniontown,
who sang in a Pittsburgh cafe.

In New York, meanwhile, detectives questioned two Pittsburgh
area men detained in the investigation of the case.

Detective John T. Sheldrick of
New York identified the two as Joseph Mannerino, 36, of New Kensington, and Silvio Domenico, 30,
formerly of Shady side, Pittsburgh.
The New York detective said both men protested their innocence and added:

"They may be right. They claim they were in New York at the time and it looks like they were."

Mannerino and Domenico were arranged in felony court on fugitive charges, and held without bail
for a hearing tomorrow.

COAL STRIKE PROBLEM ALSO TOPIC TODAY

Thursday New Deadline
For U. S. Railroads To Quit Operating

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, May 20.—Top
presidential advisers continued separate conferences with leaders of railroad brotherhoods and carriers
today with the hope of "bringing them together very soon" in direct negotiations.

In making this announcement,
however, Eben Ayers, assistant press
secretary for President Truman,
said he did not think joint conferences designed to reach a settlement prior to Thursday's strike
deadline, could be resumed today.

Reconversion Director John W.
Snyder and John R. Steelman, presidential labor adviser, are con-
fering with the disputants individually.

The engineer and trainmen brotherhoods are seeking wage and working rule changes which the carriers
so far have declined to accept.

Confer On Coal Strike

Snyder, Steelman and Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach are meeting today on the soft coal dispute,
Ayers said in reply to questions,
and commented:

"As far as I know they are not talking about seizure."

Principals on both sides have said
privately they looked for the government to take over the mines by the middle of the week.

The truce under which most of 400,000 striking United Mine Workers are again digging coal expires
next weekend, while the nationwide strike of railroad trainmen
and engineers has been postponed
only until 4 p. m. Thursday.

There was no indication from Ayers that the railroads or the brotherhoods had agreed to any compromises so far.

"Mr. Snyder and Mr. Steelman are conferring along the lines of yesterday," he said, "with a view to resuming negotiations. They have hopes of bringing them together
very soon."

Mr. Truman, who first cancelled
but then reinstated his weekend
flight to Missouri, headed back to the capital today after receiving an honorary degree from William Jewell college. The chief executive flew to Kansas City yesterday.

Return to Washington

Even before he took off in his four-engine "Sacred Cow," Presidents A. F. Whitney of the train-men and Alvaney Johnston of the engineers brotherhoods came back to town as part of the presidenti-
ally-inspired truce agreement.

Whitney and Johnston conferred
with Presidential Assistant John R.
Steelman during the day, and the latter called on Reconversion Director John W. Snyder for a later session with carrier representatives.

Under consideration are plans for the army and navy to fly first class mail and for the diversion of vital foods and other critical freight to air, water and highway transportation.

One of the first actions of Federal Manager Charles H. Buford after taking over the 337 seized lines was to direct the railroads to hire new men to replace strikers
wherever possible and to call upon
the army for protective troops if necessary.

Buford is running the roads for Col. J. Monroe Johnson, director of the Office of Defense Transportation.

Most service had returned to near normal yesterday, although the train
that brought Whitney and Johnston back to Washington from their Cleveland headquarters was two hours late.

War Department Typist
Dies In Two-Story Fall

FRANKFURT, May 20.—A 38-
year-old American woman died last night from injuries when she fell from a second floor apartment in the headquarters compound here.

Lieut. Col. Redmond J. Conolly
of New York, the marshal,
said the woman was found, nude
and unconscious, lying on the backyard porch by a German char-
woman.

She died 12 hours later at the 97th general hospital. She was identified by Conolly as Miss Dorothy Knapp of Port Richmond, Staten Island, N. Y., a War department typist.

Conolly said the fall "appears to have been purely accidental."

"She and the captain came to the apartment at about 2 a. m. yesterday," Conolly said.

Conolly estimated the fall occurred at 7 a. m. The name of the captain was withheld.

We Learn By Our Own Mistakes

Events and decisions now have been brought together to produce a crisis, possibly the most severe peacetime test ever made of popular government.

It is a crisis of our own creation. The nation had a problem of reorganization after a costly and near-disastrous war. The solution of the problem had to be worked out in terms of existing leadership.

The existing leadership—and the existing mandate on which it stood—has done and tolerated certain things. Not all the leadership was in Washington. It resided in every part of the nation, in politics, in management, in organized labor. Wherever it resided, however, it was under obligation to help in the gigantic task of postwar reorganization.

The evidence at this moment indicates that we have done badly in a collective sense. No one is likely to claim that what we have done is a solution. It appears, rather, as a worsening of the problem. Unless America can learn by its mistakes and begin to do better in the very near future, the prospect is going to be darker than it has been at any time since the worst period of the depression.

But we can learn by our mistakes. We have learned much already and stand to learn a great deal more before anything like normalcy is restored. We have learned that the nation must act together for the common welfare in peace just as truly as it acted together for the common welfare in war. Otherwise, the United States can be defeated by itself.

We have learned that what we can do to ourselves may be just as harmful to our welfare as what might be done to us by an outside enemy.

We have learned that permitting potentially dangerous power to rest in the hands of potentially dangerous users of power is an invitation to trouble.

We stand to learn that our cherished American way of life, which is matchless at its best, is based on intricate and delicate mechanisms that must be kept in natural balance.

We stand to learn that when those balances are willfully disturbed by individuals, minorities, or by government itself, the whole people suffer.

We stand to learn that there can be no such thing in a government founded on popular sovereignty as unbridled use of power.

It may appear to some of us that the problems are insoluble. That is the most dangerous thing which could befall the United States, because it would lead to desperation.

The fact is that problems are insoluble only insofar as the solution is sought in the wrong places. They are surely insoluble if the nation continues to look for the solution in the direction of narrow advantage, each minority grinding its own ax, each individual feathering his own nest.

The Right To Strike

Seizure of railroads under the chief executive's wartime powers calls attention to the curious fact that labor's right to strike is nowhere defined clearly in law.

It is not a right guaranteed by the Constitution. While it was given congressional recognition in several instances during the New Deal, other decisions of Congress can be construed as limiting the right.

The only overt attempt to limit it was made in connection with railroad workers 26 years ago. A Senate amendment forbidding railroad strikes was added to the Transportation Act of 1920, but later was rejected by the House.

Current proposals to limit it, such as the one made last Thursday by Civilian Production Administrator John D. Small, have stirred no support, obviously because of misgivings over possible abuse of the limitation.

Nevertheless, in public opinion, the right to strike is limitable under special circumstances. Woodrow Wilson clearly described the circumstances in his annual message to Congress in 1919. He said:

"The right of individuals to strike is inviolate and ought not to be interfered with by any process of government, but there is a predominant right and that is the right of the government to protect all of its people and to assert its power and majesty against the challenge of any class. The government, when it asserts that right, seeks not to antagonize a class but simply to defend the right of the whole people as against the irreparable harm and injury that might be done by the attempt by any class to usurp a power that only government itself has a right to exercise as a protection to all."

Harry Truman has gone back to Woodrow Wilson in asserting the government's right to protect all of its people against a railroad strike. The question is whether railroad workers are willing to go back that far, or will stop in the era of the New Deal when government seemed to say it had no power that could not be usurped by organized labor and the people had no rights predominant over the asserted rights of strikers.

Parable of a Puppy Tail

Senator Taft's suggestion that prices might as well be stabilized 50 per cent above prewar levels because inflation is inevitable puts the Truman administration in an embarrassing position.

It cannot argue with Senator Taft about his conclusion without defending its existing price policy which has been getting less defensible day by day. Organized labor's raids on the stabilization line have broken it in so many places that it has ceased to be much more than a theory.

But neither could it accept the senator's promise without confessing what everyone in Washington knows, but only Republicans and independent Democrats dare to say—that the Truman administration is presiding over piecemeal disintegration of the price structure. The disintegration in large degree was brought about and clearly was hastened by the administration's support of the monstrous fallacy that prices could be artificially depressed while wages were free to rise.

That is the shape of things as they are. The shape of things as the people are supposed to think they are, however, is something else. We are told by the Chester Bowles and the Paul Porters that the price line must be held and inflation averted. We are told not to believe that the price line isn't being held and that inflation, far from being averted, is here.

We are told that it will hurt less if the puppy's tail is lopped off a fraction of an inch at a time, because that way he never will know it. We are told not to believe that it would be kinder to the pup and no harder for everybody else if the whole job were done at once, which is in effect all that Senator Taft is talking about when he suggests boosting the price level 50 per cent above prewar levels and attempting to stabilize it there.

The Stars Say

For Tuesday, May 21

THE planetary configurations point to a sudden and exceptionally propitious opportunity for closing a major proposition, which is bound to have a radical and far reaching influence on this life, its fortunes and destiny. In these expansive operations or dramatic ventures, there is definite need for manipulating circumstances, situations and personalities to desired ends through shrewd, studied and careful methods and not by rash or erratic impulses or strange urges.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year in which a sudden and unprecedented opening for a large and far-reaching achievement may radically speed up the life and mend its fortunes with thrilling denouement. While this event may swing wide the doors to high adventure or romance, yet all plans, moves and tactics should be studied, sane and practical and not engineered with turbulence, erratic or emotional urges.

While delays or sensationalism should be shunned, calm and steady marshalling of the resources and talents are desirable, and promptly executed.

While a child born on this day may possess exceptional talents and inventive skills or genius, certain restraints and composed tactics are recommended with impulses and emotions under control.

Dermatitis Due To Contact With Oils

BY HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.
SOMETIMES, the high cost of making a living must be figured to include those disorders due to substances with which the worker must come into direct contact.

One of these is dermatitis or inflammation of the skin. It is estimated that one out of every 100 workers suffers from this sort of rash and Doctor Samuel M. Peck of New York City believes that one-fifth of these cases are due to contact with petroleum products and greases.

Fortunately, he has also some helpful suggestions for those who must work with these skin-irritating oils.

Cutting Oils
The most common of such irritants used in modern industry are cutting oils. There are two kinds of these oils. One kind, the soluble type, consists of what is known as sulfonated petroleum oil. This product diluted with oil is used for cooling cutting tools and to prevent rusting.

The other type of oil, the insoluble type, or one that does not go into solution, also is used on machine tools. This type is responsible for what is known as cutting oil acne. It produces a rash on the backs of the forearms and thighs.

Bare Arms
This is due to the fact that men usually work with bare arms and the thighs are continually exposed to contact with oil-soaked trousers. The rash usually begins as inflammation of the hair roots. Then pimples form in which pus gradually develops.

The petroleum oils may also take the fat out of the skin. In older persons with a dry skin this may lead to cracking and a generalized skin inflammation. Continuous exposure to these oils and greases over a long period of years may lead to the development of small, flat, brown, wart-like growths, particularly on the back of the hands.

To prevent this type of skin disturbance, contact between the worker's skin and the oils must be reduced to a minimum. This means that the machine should be kept as free from grease and dirt as possible. The oil should be changed at least once a week, according to Dr. Peck.

There should be adequate washing facilities with hot and cold water, and shower baths should also be provided. Workers should have clean towels daily and should have clean waste at the machine so that the oil can be wiped off the hands and forearms as often as is necessary.

Skin cleansers should also be available. Clean work clothes should be provided daily and, to protect the exposed portions of the body, sleeves through which the oil does not pass, and aprons and gloves of similar material should be provided.

Protective ointments also are useful but these need be employed only on those parts of the body which cannot be protected in other ways.

We Learn By Our Own Mistakes

Events and decisions now have been brought together to produce a crisis, possibly the most severe peacetime test ever made of popular government.

It is a crisis of our own creation. The nation had a problem of reorganization after a costly and near-disastrous war. The solution of the problem had to be worked out in terms of existing leadership.

The existing leadership—and the existing mandate on which it stood—has done and tolerated certain things. Not all the leadership was in Washington. It resided in every part of the nation, in politics, in management, in organized labor. Wherever it resided, however, it was under obligation to help in the gigantic task of postwar reorganization.

The evidence at this moment indicates that we have done badly in a collective sense. No one is likely to claim that what we have done is a solution. It appears, rather, as a worsening of the problem. Unless America can learn by its mistakes and begin to do better in the very near future, the prospect is going to be darker than it has been at any time since the worst period of the depression.

But we can learn by our mistakes. We have learned much already and stand to learn a great deal more before anything like normalcy is restored.

We have learned that the nation must act together for the common welfare in peace just as truly as it acted together for the common welfare in war. Otherwise, the United States can be defeated by itself.

We have learned that what we can do to ourselves may be just as harmful to our welfare as what might be done to us by an outside enemy.

We have learned that permitting potentially-dangerous power to rest in the hands of potentially-dangerous users of power is an invitation to trouble.

We stand to learn that our cherished American way of life, which is matchless at its best, is based on intricate and delicate mechanisms that must be kept in natural balance.

We stand to learn that when those balances are willfully disturbed by individuals, minorities, or by government itself, the whole people suffer.

We stand to learn that there can be no such thing in a government founded on popular sovereignty as unbridled use of power.

It may appear to some of us that the problems are insoluble. That is the most dangerous thing which could befall the United States, because it would lead to desperation.

The fact is that problems are insoluble only insofar as the solution is sought in the wrong places. They are surely insoluble if the nation continues to look for the solution in the direction of narrow advantage, each minority grinding its own ax, each individual feathering his own nest.

The Right To Strike

Seizure of railroads under the chief executive's wartime powers calls attention to the curious fact that labor's right to strike is nowhere defined clearly in law.

It is not a right guaranteed by the Constitution. While it was given congressional recognition in several instances during the New Deal, other decisions of Congress can be construed as limiting the right.

The only overt attempt to limit it was made in connection with railroad workers 26 years ago. A Senate amendment forbidding railroad strikes was added to the Transportation Act of 1920, but later was rejected by the House.

Current proposals to limit it, such as the one made last Thursday by Civilian Production Administrator John D. Small, have stirred no support, obviously because of misgivings over possible abuse of the limitation.

Nevertheless, in public opinion, the right to strike is limitable under special circumstances. Woodrow Wilson clearly described the circumstances in his annual message to Congress in 1919. He said:

"The right of individuals to strike is inviolate and ought not to be interfered with by any process of government, but there is a predominant right and that is the right of the government to protect all of its people and to assert its power and majesty against the challenge of any class. The government, when it asserts that right, seeks not to antagonize a class but simply to defend the right of the whole people as against the irreparable harm and injury that might be done by the attempt by any class to usurp a power that only government itself has a right to exercise as a protection to all."

Harry Truman has gone back to Woodrow Wilson in asserting the government's right to protect all of its people against a railroad strike. The question is whether railroad workers are willing to go back that far, or will stop in the era of the New Deal when government seemed to say it had no power that could not be usurped by organized labor and the people had no rights predominant over the asserted rights of strikers.

Senator Taft's suggestion that prices might as well be stabilized 50 per cent above prewar levels because inflation is inevitable puts the Truman administration in an embarrassing position.

It cannot argue with Senator Taft about his conclusion without defending its existing price policy which has been getting less defensible day by day. Organized labor's raids on the stabilization line have broken it in so many places that it has ceased to be much more than a theory.

But neither could it accept the senator's promise without confessing what everyone in Washington knows, but only Republicans and independent Democrats dare to say—that the Truman administration

is presiding over piecemeal disintegration of the price structure. The disintegration in large degree was brought about and clearly was hastened by the administration's support of the monstrous fallacy that prices could be artificially depressed while wages were free to rise.

That is the shape of things as they are. The shape of things as the people are supposed to think they are, however, is something else. We are told by the Chester Bowles and the Paul Porters that the price line must be held and inflation averted. We are told not to believe that the price line isn't being held and that inflation, far from being averted, is here.

We are told that it will hurt less if the puppy's tail is lopped off a fraction of an inch at a time, because that way he never will know it. We are told not to believe that it would be kinder to the pup and no harder for everybody else if the whole job were done at once, which is in effect all that Senator Taft is talking about when he suggests boosting the price level 50 per cent above prewar levels and attempting to stabilize it there.

The Stars Say

THE planetary configurations point to a sudden and exceptionally propitious opportunity for closing a major proposition, which is bound to have a radical and far reaching influence on this life, its fortunes and destiny. In these expansive operations or dramatic ventures, there is definite need for manipulating circumstances, situations and personalities to desired ends through shrewd, studied and careful methods and not by rash or erratic impulses or strange urges.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year in which a sudden and unprecedented opening for a large and far-reaching achievement may radically speed up the life and mend its fortunes with thrilling denouement. While this event may swing wide the doors to high adventure or romance, yet all plans, moves and tactics should be studied, sane and practical and not engineered with turbulence, erratic or emotional urges.

While delays or sensationalism should be shunned, calm and steady marshaling of the resources and talents are desirable, and promptly executed.

While a child born on this day may possess exceptional talents and inventive skill or genius, certain restraints and composed tactics are recommended with impulses and emotions under control.

Dermatitis Due To Contact With Oils

BY HERMAN S. BUNDESEN, M.D.
SOMETIMES, the high cost of making a living must be figured to include those disorders due to substances with which the worker must come into direct contact.

One of these is dermatitis or inflammation of the skin. It is estimated that one out of every 100 workers suffers from this sort of rash and Doctor Samuel M. Peck of New York City believes that one-fifth of these cases are due to contact with petroleum products and greases.

Fortunately, he has also some helpful suggestions for those who must work with these skin-irritating oils.

Cutting Oils

The most common of such irritants used in modern industry are cutting oils. There are two kinds of these oils. One kind, the soluble type, consists of what is known as sulfonated petroleum oil. This product diluted with oil is used for cooling cutting tools and to prevent rusting.

The other type of oil, the insoluble type, or one that does not go into solution, also is used on machine tools. This type is responsible for what is known as cutting oil acne. It produces a rash on the backs of the forearms and thighs.

Bare Arms

This is due to the fact that men usually work with bare arms and the thighs are continually exposed to contact with oil-soaked trousers. The rash usually begins as inflammation of the hair roots. Then pimples form in which pus gradually develops.

The petroleum oils may also take the fat out of the skin. In older persons with a dry skin this may lead to cracking and a generalized skin inflammation. Continuous exposure to these oils and greases over a long period of years may lead to the development of small, flat, brown, wart-like growths, particularly on the back of the hands.

To prevent this type of skin disturbance, contact between the worker's skin and the oils must be reduced to a minimum. This means that the machine should be kept as free from grease and dirt as possible. The oil should be changed at least once a week, according to Dr. Peck.

There should be adequate washing facilities with hot and cold water, and shower baths should also be provided. Workers should have clean towels daily and should have clean waste at the machine so that the oil can be wiped off the hands and forearms as often as is necessary.

Skin cleansers should also be available. Clean work clothes should be provided daily and, to protect the exposed portions of the body, sleeves through which the oil does not pass, and aprons and gloves of similar material should be provided.

Protective ointments also are useful but these need be employed only on those parts of the body which cannot be protected in other ways.

MACKENZIE'S Column

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

The British socialist government's empire-rocking decision to quit India and Egypt was impelled mainly by two factors, we are told by John A. Parris, an Associated Press correspondent in London, and these are:

1. Britain's great need for trade and the consequent necessity of maintaining good relations with potentially markets.

2. Because of the development of the atomic bomb, imperial defense no longer requires the presence of huge armies in places like Egypt and India. On the contrary, maintenance of troops in such countries isn't worth the risk of creating political warfare.

To these reasons, I think we must add another or let us say place a rather wider interpretation on those already given. The new epoch upon which our world is entering, provides no parking space for imperialism, or for any other combination of different races which are held together by anything else than ties of blood, friendship and mutual interest.

England, having recognized this trend a quarter of a century ago, when she inaugurated the British commonwealth of nations in which the sovereignty of the dominions was acknowledged, is now further tidying up her house. It is a great contribution to world peace.

So far as Egypt is concerned, while she isn't a part of the British empire, she has been under what amounted to a protectorate. Bitterness against England has been growing in Egypt for the past generation until it has reached such a pitch of intensity that a British withdrawal was the only thing which could prevent a rupture of the peace.

As regards Britain's offer to give India complete independence and withdraw from the country, it is only fair to say that this isn't an idea born overnight in an emergency. England made an offer of dominion status in 1942 when the mission under Sir Stafford Cripps was sent out there. That failed, and the Indian campaign of civil disobedience which followed resulted in much bloodshed and destruction.

The British government has placed no strings on the offer, though it expresses the hope that India will choose to remain an independent member of the British commonwealth. Indications are that the Indians may decide on this course.

MACKENZIE'S Column BY DEWITT MACKENZIE AP Foreign Affairs Analyst The British socialist government's empire-rocking decision to quit India and Egypt was impelled mainly by two factors, we are told by John A. Parris, an Associated Press correspondent in London, and these are: 1. Britain's great need for trade and the consequent necessity of maintaining good relations with potentially markets. 2. Because of the development of the atomic bomb, imperial defense no longer requires the presence of huge armies in places like Egypt and India. On the contrary, maintenance of troops in such countries isn't worth the risk of creating political warfare. To these reasons I think we must add another or, let us say, place a rather wider interpretation on those already given. The new epoch upon which our world is entering, provides no parking space for imperialism, or for any other combination of different races which are held together by anything else than ties of blood, friendship and mutual interest. England, having recognized this trend a quarter of a century ago, when she inaugurated the British commonwealth of nations in which the sovereignty of the dominions was acknowledged, is now further tidying up her house. It is a great contribution to world peace. So far as Egypt is concerned, while she isn't a part of the British empire, she has been under what amounted to a protectorate. Bitterness against England has been growing in Egypt for the past generation until it has reached such a pitch of intensity that a British withdrawal was the only thing which could prevent a rupture of the peace. As regards Britain's offer to give India complete independence and withdraw from the country, it is only fair to say that this isn't an idea born overnight in an emergency. England made an offer of dominion status in 1942 when the mission under Sir Stafford Cripps was sent out there. That failed, and the Indian campaign of civil disobedience which followed resulted in much bloodshed and destruction. The British government has placed no strings on the offer, though it expresses the hope that India will choose to remain an independent member of the British commonwealth. Indications are that the Indians may decide on this course.

Lady Nearly Choked While Lying In Bed—Due To Stomach Gas

One lady said a few days ago that she used to be afraid to go to bed at night. She was swollen with stomach gas, which always got worse when she went to bed, and the gas would rise up in her throat after she lay down and would nearly choke her. She couldn't lie flat. Had to prop herself up on pillows. Recently this lady got ERB-HELP and now says gas is gone, stomach feels fine, bowels are regular and she can go to bed and sleep soundly.

ERB-HELP contains 12 Great Herbs; they cleanse bowels, clear gas from stomach, act on sluggish liver and kidneys. Miserable people soon feel different all over. So don't go on suffering. Get ERB-HELP! Lease Drug Stores.

Boyle's COLUMN

By EDDIE GILMORE
(For Hal Boyle)

LONDON, May 20 — "I think," whispered my British friend, who was 13 pounds lighter than when I saw him here five years ago, "I can find a steak."

After seven days in Britain's justifiably weary capital, I needed a steak. I had come here from Moscow where steaks — to foreigners and to some Russians — are as common as samovars and sometimes about as tough.

Arm in arm, we went steaking. I'm taking you to a restaurant where I've known the manager for years, and my friend, who happens to be one of England's best-known comic band leaders, "We know the system. If he shakes his head, we come in, we won't be eating steaks."

I asked why the mystery. "Because," said my friend, if he shakes his head it means that what he has listed as steak really is horse. But he won't sell horse to the pals. That is, not as steak."

Considering my ample 222 pounds, nurtured by years of good feeding in Moscow where the advent of "communist stores" where you can buy numerous unrationed meats, I didn't feel up to horse.

We found the restaurant, one of these neat, tiny places tucked away in Soho.

The manager sighted us about the same time we sighted him. Eagerly I stared at his head. It shook. It didn't nod.

"Horse," said the musician with the same sad manner in which he croons, "I'm a little on the lonely side."

All of which brings me up to the point I'm getting hungry and this is the place to look for food.

I've been here this time on my way home, in everything from the townhouse of an ancient, once party earl to a low-price restaurant and my conclusions are cut and dried.

The British people are down to what would appear to be the bottom of the barrel. They don't expect the American loan is going to bring them a great deal more, but they do expect some. They definitely are eating worse than they were the last time I was here—in the middle of the blitz.

One look at my American friends shows them with hanging suits and those collars. My Russian wife, who is with me, thinks the food at our hotel is awful. My baby won't eat and it and we have a very difficult time getting milk. A friend gave us a banana, but there has been no other fruit.

Frankly, comrades, London not only can take it, but it's taking me.

Student Electrocuted As Flagpole Is Raised

MANSFIELD, May 20.—A flag pole raising at Union rural high school turned to tragedy when the 54-foot steel shaft fell against a power line and electrocuted Glen Ray Smith, 17, as more than 100 pupils looked on helplessly.

Janitor George Hahn and David Maxwell, a pupil, were shocked severely.

Smith would have been graduated next Friday with 24 other seniors. The class had given the flag pole to the school as a graduating present and most of the 123 students were watching the ceremonies when the tragedy occurred.

Boyle's COLUMN

(For Hal Boyle)

LONDON, May 20 — "I think," whispered my British friend, who was 13 pounds lighter than when I saw him here five years ago, "I can find you a steak."

After seven days in Britain's justifiably weary capital, I needed a steak. I had come here from Moscow where steaks — to foreigners — are as common as samovars and sometimes about as tough.

Arm in arm, we went steaking. "I'm taking you to a restaurant where I've known the manager for years," said my friend, who happened to be one of England's best-known swing band leaders. "We know the system. If he shakes his head when we come in, we won't be eating steaks."

I asked why the mystery. "Because," said my friend, "if he shakes his head it means that what he has listed as 'steak' really is mutton. That is, not as steak."

Considering my ample 222 pounds, nurtured by years of good feeding in Moscow since the advent of commercial stores, where you can get numerous unrationed meats, I frankly felt up to horse.

We found the restaurant, one of those neat, tiny places tucked away in Soho.

The manager sighted us about the same time we sighted him. Eagerly I stared at his head. It shook. It didn't nod.

"He's," said the musician in which he croons, "I'm a little on the lonely side."

All of which brings me up to the point I'm getting hungry and this is the place to look for food.

I've been here this time on my home, in everything from the house of an ancient, once only earl to a low-price restaurant and my conclusions are cut and dried.

The British people are down to what would appear to be the bottom of the barrel. They don't expect the American loan is going to bring them a great deal more, but they do expect some. They definitely are eating worse than they were the last time I was here—in the middle of the blitz.

One look at my American friends gives them with hanging suits and collars. My Russian wife, who with me, thinks the food at our hotel is awful. My baby won't eat half of it and we have a very difficult time getting milk. A friend gave us a banana, but there has been no fruit.

Frankly, comrades, London not only can take it, but it's taking me.

Held For Non-Support

LONDON, May 20—Deputy Sheriff Howard Clark arrested Eldon Williams of Vinton county on a farm near New Waterford.

Williams said Wells would be turned over to Vinton county authorities for a hearing on a non-support charge.

WILL YOU TARRY OUTSIDE, TWIGGS, WHILE I GO AND RECEIVE THE PACKET OF PRIZED ETCHINGS FROM MR. HEMINGWAY IN THE HOTEL? — HAW-KAFF, THIS IS AN AIR-TIGHT CONFIDENTIAL MISSION, AND LETS LET HIM THINK I'M ALWAYS ALONE!

ROGER, BIG SHOT! I'LL WAIT. — I SUPPOSE MR. HEMINGWAY PREFERS THIS QUIET LITTLE CLASSY HOTEL BECAUSE HE'S A SHY PERSONALITY, LIKE A MOUSE IN THE ROQUEFORT?

YES, BUT HOW DID YOU GUESS THAT, TWIGGS?

Student Electrocutd As Flagpole Is Raised

MANSFIELD, May 20.—A flag pole raising at Union rural high school turned to tragedy when the 54-foot steel shaft fell against a power line and electrocuted Glen Ray Smith, 17, as more than 100 pupils looked on helplessly.

Janitor George Hahn and David Maxwell, a pupil, were shocked severely.

Smith would have been graduated next Friday with 24 other seniors. The class had given the flag pole to the school as a graduating present and most of the 123 students were watching the ceremonies when the tragedy occurred.

Akron North Has Easy Time Winning District Meet Here

Qualifies 12 Places For State Finals As Smithy Scores High Point Total

Coach Bob White's Akron North Vikings still reign supreme in North-eastern Ohio's district track circles. That was amply proved for the third straight year at Reilly stadium Saturday afternoon when the Vikings breezed by the 22-team field with an impressive 50-point total to Canton McKinley's 29 for second best.

Versatile Jim Smithy, basketball star on the Ohio Class A runner-up quintet, took high honors for the second year with 16 points, posted on first in the low and high hurdles and a second in the high jump.

The balance of the field lined up as follows: Akron Garfield 22, Akron Buchtel 20, Warren 18, East Palestine 13½, Struthers 12, Youngstown South 12, Salem 9½, Canton 6, Barberton 5, Painesville 4½, Akron South 4, Akron East 3½, Girard, Niles, Wooster, Youngstown Rayen, Massillon and Akron Central failed to score.

North ran away with the state finals places, capturing 12 McKinley and Buchtel each garnered six and Garfield five. Salem netted three places: Bob Boone in a tie for fourth place in the high jump, Bob Roessler in a tie for fourth in the pole vault and Bob Little, who placed second in a fast half mile race.

Bobby Wade, East Palestine's star jumper, broke the only record Saturday, leaping 22 feet 3½ inches in the broad jump to smash a record posted by Barnett of Barberton in 1942. The previous best was 22 feet 7½ inches.

Walt Corbin of Warren was second high with 10 points.

Little's half mile jump was by far the outstanding Salem performance of the day and the diminutive Quaker, displaying a beautiful stride, nearly took first. He was passed in the stretch by Joe Farrell of Canton Lehman after leading most of the final lap.

Times were not exceptional Saturday but were far from poor. In two track events, the low hurdles and the 440 yard dash, the times were just a few tenths of a second from the district records.

One of the oddities of the day, and certainly one of the toughest, was in the 100 yard dash semi-finals when J. V. Clifford, McKinley Sophomore ace, was disqualified for having two false starts.

Clifford, who failed to show much staying power in the 220, had previously recorded a 1.01 second mark in the 100 preliminaries, a time that was a tenth of a second better than the 102 second mark recorded by Jack Gibson of Garfield, who won the finals.

Clifford, however, redeemed himself somewhat by placing second in the 220 yard dash and as a leg-man on the winning half mile relay team.

Salem's half mile relay squad missed the trip to Columbus by 6 seconds, placing fifth in a fast two heat affair. The mile relay squad placed sixth, falling behind in a field in which they were rated as a state final qualifier.

The results of the meet follow. All winners of first, second, third and fourth places are eligible to compete in the state finals at Columbus Friday and Saturday of next week.

YIPPEE! IS THIS FOR ME!
HOLD TIGHT—HERE WE GO!
WHERE TO, PLUMP ONE?
A HUNK OF MA NATURE'S LITTLE OL' BACK YARD, JUNIOR! I THINK BOOTS WILL LIKE IT!

THE GUMPS
WHAT! I DO? THAT BRAZEN COUNTESS IS TRYING TO SNATCH MY HUSBAND RIGHT FROM UNDER MY VERY NOSE!
I KNOW WHAT I'D DO...
I'D PUT MY HUSBAND RIGHT BACK UNDER MY NOSE AND REMOVE THE COUNTESS FROM THE VICINITY AND FAR!
BUT HOW?
DOZENS OF WAYS, BUT THE BEST I'VE EVER FOUND IS A SWIFT PUNCH ON THE JAW!
HM, WONDER WHAT'S IN THAT LETTER SHE JUST SHOWED HIM. HE SEEMS VERY EXCITED...

THE GUMPS
OH BOY I'VE GOT THE HOUSE TO MYSELF—WHAT A SWELL CHANCE TO TAKE A NAP
IS COOKE AT HOME, MR. BUMSTEAD?
HOW DID YOU GET IN HERE?!
YOUR FRONT DOOR WAS OPEN AND WE WALKED IN I'LL BE GLAD WHEN WE GET THE SCREEN DOORS UP!

THE GUMPS
WELL? IT'S HEAVENLY!
ANY FISH IN THIS CREEK?
A SPOT LIKE THIS, AND YOUR MAN THINKS OF FISH!

ALTHOUSE'S WIN OVER BARBERTON

Take Inaugural In 11 Innings at Placencia Diamond

Opening the season with a thrilling 3-2 victory in 11 innings, the Althouse Dodgers yesterday defeated a difficult Barberton Slovene club before a large crowd at the Lake Placencia diamond.

The winning run came in the last of the 11th for Althouse after the score had been tied, 2-2, in the last of the ninth. Tisch was the big gun at the plate for Salem, hitting three times in five trips to the plate. Heinaman hurled six hit ball yesterday, fanning 16 and walking one.

Slap for Tojo

AN AMUSING incident recorded during reading of indictment against former Premier Hideki Tojo in the war crimes trial at Tokyo, is depicted above as an uninhibited man named Shumel Okawa, who is accused of engineering the "Mukden Incident" in 1931, has an urge. Tojo listens with a grim face, top, as Okawa glares at his bald head. An armed MP completes the panel Okawa raises his hand over hairless pate of unsuspecting Tojo, brings it down with a resounding slap, and the MP attempts to halt the act. An amused Tojo, bottom photo, breaks out in toothless grin, while Okawa continues his vacant staring and the MP holds him in tow. (International)

Slap for Tojo

AN AMUSING incident recorded during reading of indictment against former Premier Hideki Tojo in the war crimes trial at Tokyo, is depicted above as an uninhibited man named Shumel Okawa, who is accused of engineering the "Mukden Incident" in 1931, has an urge. Tojo listens with a grim face, top, as Okawa glares at his bald head. An armed MP completes the panel Okawa raises his hand over hairless pate of unsuspecting Tojo, brings it down with a resounding slap, and the MP attempts to halt the act. An amused Tojo, bottom photo, breaks out in toothless grin, while Okawa continues his vacant staring and the MP holds him in tow. (International)

STARVATION LINE "GOOD HEALTH" LINE
WITH AMERICANS BEING URGED to "pull in their belts" to help feed 4,000,000 famine-threatened people, this chart provides at a glance an answer to a question many are asking: "What are these people actually eating, and what do they need?" The information on the chart above came from UNRRA and other relief agencies, according to the most recent reports from former President Herbert Hoover's check of the hunger zones. Note "starvation line" and "good health" line to which arrows on chart point. (International)

Your GI Rights

WASHINGTON—World War II has made many children and incompetent persons beneficiaries of the Veterans' Administration. To handle the money they receive, a legal guardian has to be appointed.

VA points out that much time in court and many legal fees will be saved if the interested relatives of such beneficiaries will let the VA attorneys handle such cases. Before starting any court action to have a guardian appointed, they should see the chief attorney at the nearest VA regional office.

In many cases, court action is not even necessary. VA is authorized by federal law to recognize a person to whom payments can be made in behalf of a beneficiary in many circumstances.

Such cases are handled by the VA Guardianship Service. Officials report that more often than not there have been expensive fees and court costs involved in the appointment of a guardian which could have been avoided if the VA attorneys had been consulted first.

Growing Number of Cases

There is a growing number of cases involving the appointment of a guardian. This service rendered by VA is also available to those entitled to benefits arising out of World War I, other wars, and peacetime service.

All local draft boards have been instructed to co-operate in this matter, and to advise relatives and interested persons to consult VA. The Guardianship Service staff includes lawyers and field examiners trained in procedures and problems of guardianship in state courts, who can give maximum aid to beneficiaries or their legal representatives.

There is no charge made by the Veterans' administration for this service. More than 100,000 persons have already been aided by it.

The address if the nearest VA regional office can be obtained at the local post-office or draft board.

Air Races "Melon" Largest In History

(By Associated Press)

CLEVELAND, This year's national air races will offer the largest cash prizes in the history of the event. General Manager Ben T. Franklin announced today.

Franklin said a total of $105,000 already had been posted for prizes. This amount exceeds the $102,000 offered in 1938. Additional cash prizes are expected to be provided before the race dates, Aug. 30 and 31, Sept. 1 and 2, arrive.

Franklin also announced the National Aeronautics association had sanctioned the races. NAA sanction is necessary if records are to be recognized officially in this country and abroad.

The two top attractions will be the Bendix and Thompson trophy races.

The Bendix trophy race, to be staged Aug. 30 from Burbank, Calif., to Cleveland, will enlist 50 of the world's fastest craft. Jet planes also will be entered, but in a separate category.

The Thompson trophy race on Labor day will consist of 20 laps on a 15-mile quadrangular course totaling 300 miles. Jet planes also will fly in a separate category.

Fliers in this event will attempt to crack the 233-miles-per-hour record set in 1938 by Roescoe Turner.

HOW YOU EAT IN WORLD OF WANT

STARVATION LINE WITH AMERICANS BEING URGED TO "pull in their belts" to help feed 4,000,000 famine-threatened people, this chart provides at a glance an answer to a question many are asking: "What are these people actually eating, and what do they need?" The information on the chart above came from UNRRA and other relief agencies, according to the most recent reports from former President Herbert Hoover's check of the hunger zones. Note "starvation line" and "good health" line to which arrows on chart point. (International)

Your GI Rights

WASHINGTON—World War II has made many children and incompetent persons beneficiaries of the Veterans' Administration. To handle the money they receive, a legal guardian has to be appointed. VA points out that much time in court and many legal fees will be saved if the interested relatives of such beneficiaries will let the VA attorneys handle such cases. Before starting any court action to have a guardian appointed, they should see the chief attorney at the nearest VA regional office.

In many cases, court action is not even necessary. VA is authorized by federal law to recognize a person to whom payments can be made in behalf of a beneficiary in many circumstances.

Such cases are handled by the VA Guardianship Service. Officials report that more often than not there have been expensive fees and court costs involved in the appointment of a guardian which could have been avoided if the VA attorneys had been consulted first.

There is a growing number of cases involving the appointment of a guardian. This service rendered by VA is also available to those entitled to benefits arising out of World War I, other wars, and peacetime service.

All local draft boards have been instructed to co-operate in this matter, and to advise relatives and interested persons to consult VA. The Guardianship Service staff includes lawyers and field examiners trained in procedures and problems of guardianship in state courts, who can give maximum aid to beneficiaries or their legal representatives.

There is no charge made by the Veterans' administration for this service. More than 100,000 persons have already been aided by it. The address of the nearest VA regional office can be obtained at the local post-office or draft board.

Air Races "Melon" Largest In History

(By Associated Press)
CLEVELAND, This year's national air races will offer the largest cash prizes in the history of the event, General Manager Ben T. Franklin announced today. Franklin said a total of $105,000 already had been posted for prizes. This amount exceeds the $102,000 offered in 1938. Additional cash prizes are expected to be provided before the race dates, Aug. 30 and 31, Sept. 1 and 2, arrive.

Franklin also announced the National Aeronautics association had sanctioned the races. NAA sanction is necessary if records are to be recognized officially in this country and abroad.

The two top attractions will be the Bendix and Thompson trophy races.

The Bendix trophy race, to be staged Aug. 30 from Burbank, Calif., to Cleveland, will enlist 50 of the world's fastest craft. Jet planes also will be entered, but in a separate category.

The Thompson trophy race on Labor day will consist of 20 laps on a 15-mile quadrangular course totaling 300 miles. Jet planes also will fly in a separate category.

Fliers in this event will attempt to crack the 233-miles-per-hour record set in 1938 by Roscoe Turner.
